

In my project 1, everything went well and I was able to run the app on all iPhone sizes and perform all calculations correctly. I'm not happy about the app design though, So, I wish I had put more effort to make it look more attractive. Especially, after I saw some of the other projects where the GUI was really nice. But my idea was that this app was developed for specific users, IT engineers, where they don't care about the look and feel of the app rather than its functionally.
